

I am Joe Mozingo and I am a recent graduate of Moravian College and am currently teaching in the Lehigh Valley. I came to Nativity shortly after discovering the Episcopal Church while in college and began to attend services at Nativity in February of 2014. I can honestly say that I am most thankful for my family and my church. God has blessed me with a loving family who has supported me and helped me in all of my endeavors. And while we don't always agree, our love for each other is constant, unwavering, and strong. And I am thankful for our church, with its message of love and acceptance, and our mission to unify instead of divide. One of the many ways in which my life has been enriched by working with this parish family, is that I have experienced and seen God at work in so many different places. I see God, first hand, in our help of refugees, the celebration of an open Eucharist, the vitality of our youth, and the sheltering of the poor and lonely. My life has been and continues to be enriched by seeing God at work every day at Nativity.
